

Keep the cell phones off on planes - its the last place one can sit and think without some loud mouth yelling into his phone. Data services would be fine.

If you run into your colleagues at the FAA, you might suggest that they also legislate a minimum pitch between the seats!